Last Friday night, besides the 75 to 62 victory over Harbor for Grayling, Charlevoix kept their victory skin intact by downing East Jordan 98 to 56. Gaylord kept right on the leaders heels with a makeup win on Tuesday night 74 to 56 over East Jordan and a 78 to 49 triumph over Pellston Friday night. Boyne City downed Mancelona 70 to 51 in the other conference game.

Elementary Principals Attend Meeting

On Tuesday, January 31st, Principals Paul Aumiller of the Fredrick School and Arthur Thayer of the Grayling School spent the day at Gaylord at the Northern Michigan Regional Elementary Principals' Association meeting at the Sugar Bowl Restaurant. The Association has begun a project of evaluating elementary schools, and Mr. Thayer is a member of the Project Committee. The state of Michigan has not done this before, and this project is a pilot program which may later expand to include the whole state.

The evaluation is to be done in five steps, the first step being a survey which all elementary schools are asked to take part in. Reports are to be turned in by February 17th. Then the Project Committee will select 5 or 8 volunteer schools for more thorough study. Step two will involve an in depth study of curriculum, programs, methods, and the third step will be a visit by a team of principals and the program coordinator Dr. George Mills of the University of Michigan. It is hoped these three steps will be completed this year. Then the fourth step will be a personal by the Committee of the results of the first three steps. Fifth and last will be a revisit next year to each of the schools and run-through again to see whether or not the first four steps have been worth while.

CONGRESS AIDE IN COUNTY FEBRUARY 15

The monthly visit of Congressman E. A. Cederberg's district staff man to Crawford County will occur February 15 when he will be at the courthouse in Grayling between 10 a. m. and 12 noon.

To Dedicate St. Francis' Parish House

At a special evening service on February 12, 1967, The Ven. C. D. Braidwood, Arch Deacon of Michigan will dedicate the new Parish House at St. Francis' Episcopal Church on M-72 W. The service will begin at 7 p. m. with Evensong followed by a processional into the new Parish House for the dedication. Acceptances have been received from the Rev. Robert Haskel of St. John's Lutheran Church, Rev. Donald Beyer of Mt. Hope Lutheran Church, Rev. Charles Kolb of Michelson Memorial Methodist Church, as well as visiting Episcopal clergy to assist in the service. Following the dedication service the Women of the Church will serve refreshments.

The idea of a Parish House has long been a dream of the people of St. Francis', so in October of 1966 at the Bishop's Committee meeting it was voted upon to present to the congregation the plans for a new Parish House.

At a special congregational meeting on October 30, 1966 it was voted upon by the congregation to begin immediate construction on the Parish House and it has now been completed. The exterior of the new structure will be completed in the spring with stone facing to match the existing building. The present kitchen is being moved into the Parish House by the Episcopal Church Women and the present kitchen will be turned into a study for the Vicar.

The Building Committee was chaired by Mr. Harry Fisher who was assisted by Mr. Al Stewart and Mrs. Eli Beery. Mr. George Griffith was the chairman of the Finance Committee.

The purpose of the new facilities is to house the present Sunday School program and to enlarge it, also to hold Young Peoples activities, for the many E.C.W. projects, for the Men's activities, as well as being available for community activities.

The people of St. Francis' Episcopal Church would like to extend a special invitation to all people of Grayling and the area to attend this special dedication service and take the opportunity to see the new Parish House, of which the people of the church are so proud.

TO OBSERVE WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

This Friday, February 10, the first Friday of Lent, the annual observance of the World Day of Prayer will take place at 1 p. m. at the R. L. D. S. Church at Smith and Plum Streets. Participating in the observance which has a history of nearly 80 years, will be Mrs. Leonard Gezequel of the Methodist church, Mrs. Paul Aumiller of the Frederic Church of God, Mrs. Harold Jewkes of the Seventh Day Adventist church, Mrs. Robert Sorenson representing the St. John Lutheran church and Mrs. Dewey Corlew from the Calvary Baptist church. Mrs. Eli Beery and Mrs. Don Milliken of the St. Francis Episcopal will join Mrs. John Isenhauser, Mrs. Leonard Jensen, Mrs. Searles Vandenberg and Mrs. Bernard Fowler of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in the presentation of special music. Mrs. Earl Mathewson will also represent the host church.

Calvary Baptist To Host Chorales

The Chorales, 32 musical ambassadors from the Grand Rapids School of the Bible and Music, Grand Rapids, Michigan, will appear in concert at the Calvary Baptist Church on Sunday, Feb. 12, at 7:30 p. m.

The group is under the direction of Robert Parks, a graduate of the Grand Rapids School of the Bible and Music. Mr. Parks accompanies the group during the latter half of the program. An interesting aspect of the group's presentation is that they sing that portion of the program without direction. A new concept fostered by the school to give direct contact between the musician and the audience.

The Chorales consist of 32 students from 12 states. A special contribution to the program is made by alto soloist, Miss Sue Hong of Suwon City, Korea. Miss Hong was an aspiring young actress but left this ambition upon her conversion to Christianity.

The unique character and purpose of the Grand Rapids School of the Bible and Music is to offer young people a technical training in the Bible. The descriptive by-line of the school, "An Institute of Bible Technology," portrays the curriculum which is meeting a growing demand in our world of specialization.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

LET'S BECOME VIGILANTE

By Willard Bosserman

Co. Ext. Natural Resource Agent

Most people envision a vigilante or a vigilance committee as Webster defines it to be, a volunteer committee of citizens organized to suppress and punish crime, especially when the process of law appears inadequate. I am not insinuating that the law enforcement in Roscommon and Crawford Counties is inadequate; but only want to make the point that they need citizen cooperation to do the kind of a job that we expect them to do. Our law enforcement officers can't be every place at all times.

We citizens who live here, who depend upon our natural resources for a livelihood should take a more active part in preventing the littering and damaging of our forests, lakes and streams.

Many times people do things which are damaging to a lake or stream without realizing it. As a neighborly act a person could remind his neighbor, who is throwing his leaves into the water, that because the leaves are undercompensated organic matter that they use up dissolved oxygen needed by desirable fish. The nutrients in the leaves upon decomposition cause weed growth and as the process is repeated and builds up. It threatens the very existence of the lake.

"By throwing your leaves in the lake you are depriving me of my fishing, so ole friend, if this does not cease I will be forced to report your action to the Michigan Department of Conservation," you might say.

What I am really saying is that in most causes a friendly reminder is all that is needed. Some times "litter bugs" need to be reported. The water resources commission is the enforcing body. They are a division of Michigan Department of Conservation. The department of Conservation reports real success with citizens reporting deer violations which helped a great deal in enforcing the game law last fall.

Each of us should become more vigilant to protect our natural resources. Each of us should become familiar with what is good for our waters and what causes damage.

Agricultural Miracle . . .

The U. S. consumer has three interrelated blessings: His food abundance, his food bargain, and his high standard of living. But without our great food abundance, we would not have the other two.

The total quantity of food eaten by 195 million Americans in 1965 staggers the imagination. It would require eight freight trains with each stretching all the way from New York City to San Francisco.

The foregoing is an excerpt from a chapter of a remarkable publication entitled, "Protecting Our Food." The book was compiled in 1965.

The publication is The Yearbook of Agriculture issued by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. The 1966 edition is a timely contribution toward broader public understanding of the fantastic and historically unprecedented material abundance that has flowed to the American people from modern agricultural technologies. Orville L. Freeman, Secretary of Agriculture, writes the Forward, "We in the United States are fortunate. Our food abundance is one of the miracles of the age, the greatest gains in the last 20 years. In today's supermarkets the American housewife can choose among 100 to 8,000 items; two decades ago the food shopper would select from only 3,000 items. Our frozen food industry will produce 10 billion pounds in 1966, compared with 1.5 billion in 1946." Mr. Freeman then goes on to describe how Americans are eating as never before and at the same time are spending a smaller percentage of the total family budget for food than they were, for example, in 1946. As the title of The Year Book indicates, much of the job of protecting our food is devoted to the eternal battle against insects and disease. Not only do the cold facts it presents serve as a mute rebuke to such things as consumer strikes, but they also show the incongruity of the position of the extreme antipesticide crusade. It has this to say on the subject of chemicals, "If chemicals could not be used for pest control, farmers' production of crops and livestock might decrease by 25 to 30 per cent in a few years. Additional losses would occur from stored-product insects, ranging from 5 per cent for vegetables to 15 or 20 per cent for stored grains. With such losses, most food items would be in short supply, and prices of food would rise greatly."

Several sections of the book are devoted to describing the cooperative efforts of government — federal, state and local — and the agricultural chemical industry in promoting the safe use of chemicals. Exhaustive research in field and laboratory is slowly raising the standards of chemical application to a fine science. Labor savings from the use of chemicals in agriculture, when used in conjunction with agricultural machinery, are nothing less than phenomenal. In the U. S., it requires only 2 man-days of work per acre compared to 400 man-days of work in the Far East to attain equivalent yields — malnutrition and starvation are constant companions of the Asiatic citizen.

Other chapters in the book deal with such things as fallout, government food reserves, regulation, trends of research. Space limits adequate discussion of all these subjects, but the overall message is unmistakable. Americans, at least in the foreseeable future need have no fear of insufficient food thanks to the sheer miracle of U. S. agricultural production — a miracle that has combined the talents of science, industry and farmers in a manner that offers hope to the whole world. It is a story without parallel in the annals of mankind. It is a story with which far too few of us are familiar and which shines like a beacon over the turmoil and uncertainties of our times.

Crawford County people were somewhat slow in getting started to buy War I loan bonds for the 4th loan, but once they caught the inspiration the bonds went in a hurry. Two weeks ago it looked as if the local E. Bond sale was going to be short. But by Monday of the present week our quota of $40,000 in E Bonds had been oversubscribed by $7,000, and more are being sold daily.

The Home Economics Department of the Grayling High School is happy over receiving a handsome brand new 9 cubic feet Kelvinator refrigerator. This is a personal gift from George W. Mason, president of the Kelvinator Co. Mr. Mason has a summer home on the South Branch River and spends much of his time there; he also has many close friends in Grayling. It is this interest which has prompted him to make this fine gift to the Grayling school, and his generosity is indeed appreciated.

Friday night January 28 at Grayling, Grayling High suffered its first loss of a conference game, when Grayling took a close one, 26-24. This was truly an upset, demonstrating quite well that anything can happen in a ball game. On Tuesday, February 1, West Branch marched in with quite a ball club to swamp the locals 43 to 20. West Branch had a well-balanced, lanky quintet to hold the upper hand throughout. In the Reserve game the locals gained an even break when they defeated the B squad from West Branch 17 - 11.

Have you seen any ravens? Mrs. Hugo Schreiber tells us there are ravens in Crawford County this winter, the first she has ever known to be here. In fact she says Michigan has never had them.

Michael Connelly Dies In Flint

Word from Mrs. Leo Connelly of Flint says that Mr. E. Michael Connelly passed away January 27, 1967 in Flint. Death resulted from a car accident. The morning of funeral services for Mr. Connelly his brother Bernard's sister-in-law died. The Connellys, Jim, Bernard Mike and Leo, have been next-door neighbors in Flint for many years, and the four have adjacent 5-acre plots off M-72 eight miles east of Grayling on AuSable Trails. Michael was not married, and is survived by his brothers and families. The brothers have been coming to Grayling since 1958 and have made many friends in the area.

1967 FOOD PRICES NOT AS HIGH AS IN 1966

If it's true that new year's resolutions are made to be broken then you might as well include a resolution to spend less for food in 1967. Chances are you'll break it, but chances are the experience won't leave you broke, either.

Michigan State University Agricultural economists say the cost of food, like the cost of most other things, will continue to edge upward in 1967, but not at a rate to match the climb in 1966. So it pays to know now, which foods will be higher in the year to come and which will be lower. Shoppers who adjust the food consumption habits of their families to the lower cost foods should be able to keep food budget increases to a minimum.

The experts say that reduced beef supplies will be followed by higher beef prices, after mid-year, particularly. Dairy prices will probably increase further because of reduced production and consumers can expect another rise in the price of cereal and bakery products. Fats and oils may cost more while fresh fruits and vegetables may cost less if weather is favorable.

On the brighter side for consumers, the forecast is for generous supplies of pork, eggs and poultry and some processed fruits and vegetables. Egg production may show the largest gain in more than a decade. Broiler-fryer production is expected to increase by 5 to 10 per cent. During the first six months of the year, prices may well average below the low prices of 1966. Turkey production will be larger again this year so prices are expected to be below those of 1966, partly because of increased competition from other meats.

CARD OF THANKS

Woman's Club

Monday night, February 6, a group of Woman's Club members spent a busy evening. Representatives from the Kiwanis Club invited the Woman's Club to join them in sponsoring a Trade Show, the date to be undetermined. It was later voted that the club accept this invitation.

Mr. Robert Cook of Grand Rapids, State Representative for the National Foundation for Polio-myelitis and Birth Defects showed a film and talked about the progress made in these areas. The figures relating to polio are sensational—from well over 55,000 cases in 1954 to a scant 100 cases in 1966. On the reverse side one in sixteen live births has significant birth defects. The ladies were informed that a sizeable portion of the money allocated to Crawford County remains available for those who qualify for assistance in caring for polio and birth defects victims.

A discussion period was followed by a business meeting. Reports were made by chairmen of dinners and entertainments. Mrs. Joe Hull, chairman of the Nominating Committee, presented the names of a new slate of officers which was voted on and accepted by the members. The 1967 officers will be: President, Mrs. Walter Truettner; first vice-president, Mrs. James Forbes; second vice-president, Mrs. Jack Wainwright; secretary, Mrs. Thomas Haugh; treasurer, Mrs. Lyle Johnson.

Dessert and coffee were served from a Valentine decorated table by Mrs. Glen Fenton, Mrs. Barney Engel and Mrs. Carl E. Johnson.

A letter from Congressman Elford A. Cederberg informed the Board of the date change on the launching of the submarine "Grayling." It is now scheduled for sometime in May.

Correspondence was received from the Department of Conservation relative to a meeting between supervisors, law enforcement agencies, fisheries experts, canoe livery representatives and the Department to review existing problems between trout fishermen and canoeists.

A list of bills was presented for the approval of the Board by Treasurer Forbes. Motion by Gerry Burns, second by Ed Rutkowski, that these bills be paid. All Ayes. Ed Rutkowski reported on the Special Meeting held Monday, January 16, to revise the Constitution and Bylaws of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce. Major Rutkowski passed out copies of the Bylaws as he has rewritten them, and asked that the Board members read them over and note any comments or suggestions, and at our next meeting they will be gone over point by point.

Motion by Don Welsner, second by John Latusek, that a 2nd. Vice President be elected at our next board meeting, and that ballots be prepared for this election. All Ayes.

Considerable discussion was given to naming a new Chairman of the Membership Committee. This being one of the most important committees of the Chamber, the Board suggested several names, and decision was tabled for a future meeting.
